RE: Changes for: Art 141, Art 341 and the Photographic Program

This course has been in place and listed as a 100 level for many years. The complexity and intricate nature of the class combined with the workload required, makes this class much more difficult than a 100 level class. It should be a 200 level class with the number 241.

When this class is changed to its proper 200 level designation, it will replace the current number 241 class, which is currently a continuation of the basic photography class. When we eliminate the 241 class we need to change the Photography Concentration.

The, "Program Change Form," properly describes the change in the Photographic Concentration within the Art Major.
