

Testing Procedures for C-BASE (College Basic Academic Subjects Examination)

The complete test battery includes a 40-minute writing exercise and a multiple-choice component divided into two subjects, English and mathematics. Each subject area of CBASE takes approximately 45 minutes to complete. If you are taking the writing assignment, a short break will be given before the multiple-choice section.

You should arrive at the test site 20-30 minutes prior to the testing time. Late arrivals will not be admitted. At the test site, the proctor asks all students to sign in and to present a current picture identification for verification. Food and beverages are not allowed during the administration of the test.

Calculators are not provided, but you may use your own hand-held, non-printing, four or six function calculator during the examination. Allowable calculators may include a limited memory function which will store one to three numbers after it is turned off. Scientific and graphing calculators, which have extended memories and perform multiple functions, are not allowed. Any student who wishes to use a calculator should bring one, but students not using calculators will not be disadvantaged. Students are not allowed to share calculators or use any other material not provided with the exam.

During the multiple-choice sections, you may answer questions in any order you choose, and you may return to any section in the multiple-choice part of the exam during the testing period. However, try to proceed methodically so you decrease the possibility of recording an answer in the wrong place in the answer booklet.

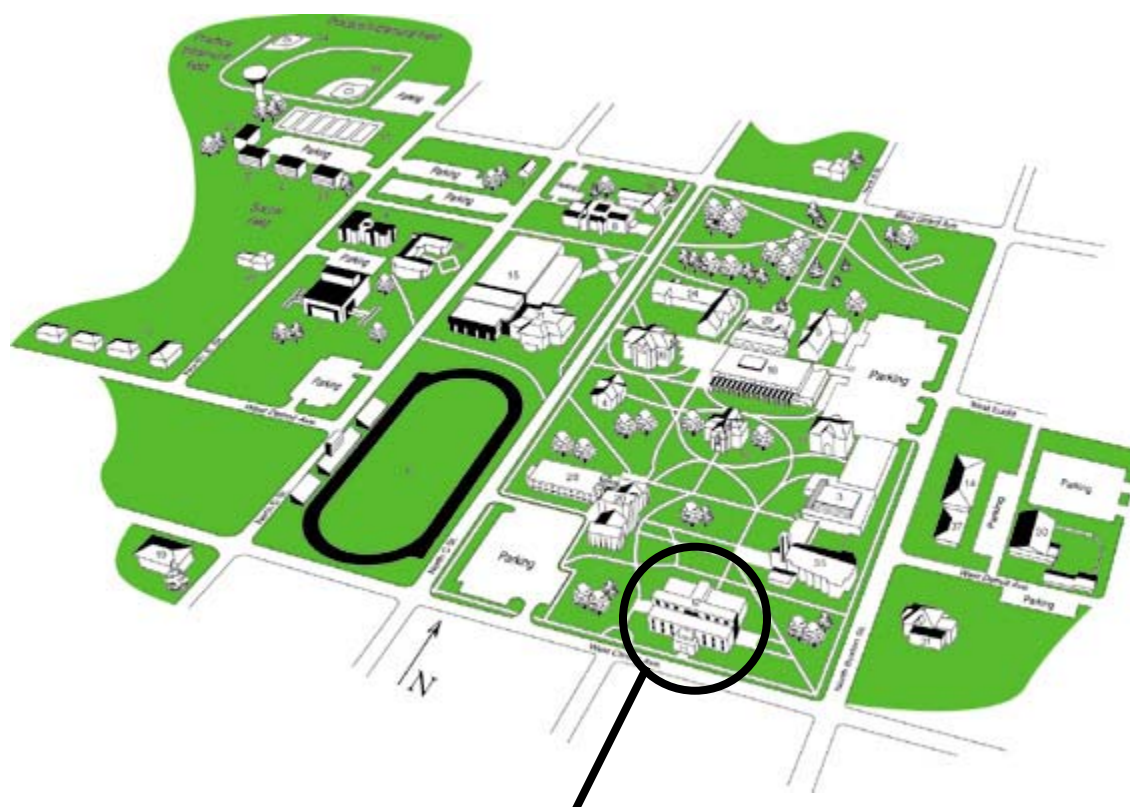

CBASE does not penalize you for guessing. Every correct answer counts toward your scores, so you should try to answer every question. An informed guess is better than no answer. In each case, read the question and all of the options carefully before selecting your response, but try not to spend too much time on any one question. During the test, the examiner will periodically post the time remaining.

If you are retaking the English and/or Math subject exam(s) only, you may arrive at the test center between 10:15 and 10:30 a.m. You will be admitted into the testing room once the rest of the students finish the writing exercise.
