Storm Men's Cross Country Season Complete

STORM REWIND: Junior Eric Osterhaus (Waterville, Iowa, Waukon H.S.) finished 169th at the NCAA Division III National Cross Country Championships Nov. 17 Northfield, Minn.

Osterhaus who became the first Storm runner since 1995 (Matt Chance) to qualify for the NCAA Division III Cross Country National Championships ran a time of 26:11 over the 8,000m course. UW-Platteville's Tyler Sigl won the individual championship in a time of 24:24. New York University won the team title with a score of 128 points.

Osterhaus finished 13th at the NCAA Division III Central Regional Championships Nov. 10 in Northfield, Minn. Osterhaus was one of 56 individuals, the first seven athletes from each of the eight regions, who were not a part of a qualifying team, to earn a spot in the National Championships.

Osterhaus is only the sixth Simpson individual runner to ever qualify for nationals with two Storm harriers (Danny Bauer, 1983-84, Dave Halferty, 1989) earning All-American honors.

THE COACH: Brad Hofer is in his first season as the head men's and women's cross country coach at Simpson. Eric Osterhaus became the first Simpson men's cross country runner to qualify for the NCAA Division III National Championships since 1995 in 2007.

Hofer served as an assistant coach for the Storm cross country teams from 2003-06. Hofer has worked with the Storm track teams for five seasons.

Hofer earned All-American honors on two occasions in the distance medley and 4x400m relay for Wartburg College. He was a multi-time national qualifier in cross country and on Wartburg's 4x400m relay team.
